ARCHITECTURAL DESCRIPTION:

The residence at 183 Grove Street was built in 1875 at the Silver Lake Co-operative store. This building has two parts, a flat roof building on the west side and a gambrel roof building on the east side. The building on the east is a 3x2 bay, wood frame, 1-1/2 story building on a fieldstone foundation. The building is clad with wood shingles. The gambrel roof is covered with asphalt shingles. A brick chimney is on the south roof slope. The entrance contains a contemporary door. The windows contain 2/2 and 6/6 sash. The west portion of the building is a 3x4 bay, wood frame, 1 story building on a fieldstone foundation. The building is clad with wood shingles. A decorative parapet wall rises above the roof line on the facade. The entrance contains a contemporary door.

HISTORICAL NARRATIVE:

This building housed a co-operative store established by Henry Maglathlin on June 14, 1875. Mr. Maglathlin had been an earnest advocate of co-operation, distributive and productive. The store, under his management for more than 25 years, notably prospered. He lived across the street at 261 Grove Street (INV# 380). After his death the store changed hands and is now a residence.
