For a particular description of most of the persons aided by the Town for the past year, reference may be had to the report of 1900. A few changes have taken place.

Thomas Sheehan died in Arlington in August last and the account with said town is closed.

Augustus A. Drew, for a number of years an inmate of an asylum in Worcester, died just previous to January of 1900, and the final account has been closed with that institution.

A part of the expenses of the last sickness of Hiram R. Eldridge, deceased, were paid by the Town, and the burial charges of Anne E. Reidenbach.

Estelle F. Swazey is living out of the State and not at present aided by this Town, and the aid to the family of I. F. Wood has ceased, he having recovered from his injury.

The expenses incurred in the case of Sofia Goodreau and child have been refunded by the City of Fall River, she having a settlement in said city, and the aid to the family of A. M. Soule has been likewise reimbursed by the Town of Duxbury, and that of William Spence is due from the Town of Pembroke.

The doctors' bills on account of Mrs. Moran have been paid in part by the State and it is expected that the balance will soon be received.

The expense incurred on account of Joseph Adams has been paid in part but it is presumed that he will still continue a ward of the Overseers of the Poor.

About $80 has been expended in repairs at the Almshouse, fuel for tramps and for insurance on the building.

One hundred and sixty-two tramps have been provided for during the twelve months, viz: 33 in January; 22 in February; 22 in March; 30 in April; 5 in May; 4 in June; 2 in July; 5 in August; 5 in September; 11 in October; 8 in November; 15 in December.

The above indicates that the temperature governs the number that apply for lodging, and not that the number about us is any less during the summer months.

At its first session after the annual Town Meeting in 1901 the School Committee determined to keep the school expenses within the limits of the Town appropriation. The above financial statement makes it appear that we have overdrawn our appropriation by $152.16. In explanation it should be said that the State owes Kingston, on account of the employment of a District Superintendent, the sum of $250. As the State treasury is presumably sound, this may be counted as an asset, which brings our expenditures inside of receipts and money appropriated by $97.84.

To secure this result we have been forced to economize at the expense of the welfare of the children in the schools.

A PERPLEXING PROBLEM.

Your Committee recognizes that they are your servants, elected to administer the affairs for the best interests of the whole town, and, so far as is possible, in accordance with your wishes. They recognize that Kingston now stands at the parting of the ways. For several years our schools have steadily improved in quality. That the parents have appreciated this is seen by the increasing attendance of pupils above school age and by the greater regularity of attendance. Fewer children have attended private schools outside of Kingston, fewer have dropped out during the course, and more have been graduated. During these same years there has been a steady broadening and enriching of the course of study. This advance has been slower than in many towns, but has been in the same direction as that of the best schools in the State.

The question which presses us, and which ought to press you until it is answered, is this: Shall we make our schools still better or shall we call a halt? Shall we say, "Kingston is a small country town, taxes are already high, and the schools must remain as they are." If we say, "Stop," we must remember what that means. To stop when other towns are going on, means that we are content to be left behind. To stop means relative loss. Are we ready to admit that Kingston is a "decaying country town?"

If we are to make progress with other towns, we must have another teacher in the High School. We must have larger and better equipped buildings. This means money.

Kingston is a splendid town for residence. This is her boast and this her strength and hope. Beautiful for situation, she may with her fine and rapidly growing library, her free lectures, her churches, and first-class schools, reasonably hope to attract buyers of real estate and other desirable residents. What higher "card" have we with which to draw to this town those we need and desire as permanent residents than good schools? What will turn parents away more quickly than inferior schools?

Further, our boys and girls find it necessary to go away from home to find the employment they desire. Most of us cannot send them out with full purses. What better can we do by our boys and girls than send them out with minds so well trained and so well furnished that they shall be the equals, at least, of those whom they must meet in competition?

Our taxes are high. Here is the question: Shall we reduce them at the expense of Kingston's high reputation and the welfare of the boys and girls?

OVERCROWDED SCHOOLS.

We would call to your attention the rapidly increasing number of children for which we must provide school accommodations, teachers, and supplies. The following table shows the facts at a glance.

	Whole Number of Pupils.	Average Membership.	Average Attendance.	Total Cost of Schools.	Cost per Pupil.
1896.	315	263	273	$7,400.63	$25.49
1897.	323	312	281	7,659.53	23.54
1898.	326	319	295	7,532.50	23.61
1899.	400	329	303	7,688.29	22.47*
1900.	432	351	320	10,567.57	23.56*
1901.	424	374	343	8,512.68	20.08

* This does not include the cost of the new schoolhouse at Rocky Nook which is included in the totals for 1899 and 1900.

The table shows plainly why school expenses are increasing, and ought to increase. We have many more pupils for whom to provide school rooms, teachers, desks, books and supplies than in 1896. That there has been no great extravagance is seen from the fact that the cost of the schools per pupil (found by dividing the total cost of schools by the average membership,) is decidedly less than in 1896.

The obstinate fact remains that several of our school rooms have more pupils than they can accommodate, and several teachers have more pupils than we have any right to ask them to teach.

At the opening of the fall term the Grammar School was so much overcrowded that we were forced to hold back one grade at Rocky Nook, which has caused the two schools there, particularly the Primary, to suffer. This has merely postponed the difficulty, not removed it. Unless we can teach the children to sit on the ceiling like flies, relief must be provided by another fall.

We, therefore, recommend the opening of a Grammar School in the old building at Rocky Nook. This will relieve the crowded condition of the Centre Grammar School and in the two schools at Rocky Nook. It will make it possible to get along without an assistant, otherwise required by law, at the Centre Grammar School; it will save an assistant, otherwise required, at Rocky Nook; it will save the cost of transporting pupils.

The old school building will require shingling, painting, seats, and out-buildings. We consequently ask an appropriation of $500 for these special repairs, and have added this amount to our recommendation on another page.

SUPERINTENDENT.

In accordance with the provision of the law, (Chap. 248 of Acts of 1900), the School Committee of Kingston united with the School Committees of Halifax, Plympton and Pembroke in the formation of a union to employ a District Superintendent. The expense, $1,500, is divided between the several towns according to the amount of service received, the apportionment being as follows: Plympton 2-15, Halifax 2-15, Pembroke 5-15, Kingston 6-15. At the close of his year of service, the State will pay to the District $750 toward the Superintendent's salary, and $500 for school purposes. This, sum, $1,250, is to be divided between the towns in the proportions indicated above. As this may seem complicated, the net cost of the new arrangement is as follows:

Salary of Superintendent paid by Kingston.	$600 00
Rebate from State on Supt.'s salary.	$300 00
Additional State aid for schools.	200 00
Total from State.	$500 00

Net cost of Superintendent. $100 00

The Town is thus receiving the services of a trained superintendent at less than one-half the cost for recent years.

The District Union elected Mr. H. H. Tucker as Superintendent, and he began his services July 1, 1901. Mr. Tucker is well fitted for his duties by long experience in teaching in all grades, and by special training in pedagogy in the graduate department of Harvard. He has shown himself to be faithful and painstaking in the discharge of his duties.

REPAIRS.

During the year the Wapping School has been provided with new seats to replace those no longer fit to use. Additional seats have been placed in the High School, Centre Intermediate and Rocky Nook Primary. Only such other repairs have been made as the condition of the buildings made imperative.

TEACHERS.

We desire to express our appreciation of the faithful and efficient services of our teachers. Some of them deserve increased wages as a reward of long and capable service. The School Committee has under consideration a plan for establishing a scale of wages whereby such teachers may be suitably and substantially rewarded, with no excessive burden to the Town.

After carefully estimating the necessary expenses for the current year, we recommend the following appropriations. Our estimates include the cost of repairing the old school-house at Rocky Nook and the opening in it of a Grammar School. We believe these estimates to be as low as the increasing number of pupils to be provided for warrants.

Teachers' wages.	$4,900 00
Books and supplies.	600 00
Fuel and care.	1,000 00

COURSE OF STUDY AND SCHEME OF EDUCATION.

I found as I entered on my work a recently adopted and an apparently well devised program of study, to whose provisions the schools were not yet fully conforming. It did not seem to me advisable to make a critical study of that program with a view to making changes if it should prove not to conform to my ideas in all respects. The schools are therefore following this program more nearly than heretofore.

In considering the requirements of a program of school studies we should bear in mind the interest of the child and the degree of his development. For every year of school life the program of studies should be of such character as to harmonize with the child's instincts and desires and tend always to develop him into the upright and useful citizen. When the child first enters school at the age of five or six years, he is possessed of a mass of knowledge, a very large mass, when we consider his age and the conditions under which he has acquired it. This knowledge is not confined to any one subject or class of subjects, but comprises almost all subjects with which man is acquainted. The first years of school life should continue this all-round development by means of general lessons without much attempt at differentiation into distinct subjects. When the powers of the child have developed sufficiently for him to concentrate his attention on a single subject for a considerable length of time, each subject should be presented by itself. Thus, when the child is ready for the High School he has been trained in knowledge as a whole and in each of the several divisions represented in the school program and is prepared to pursue certain of these subjects intensively, and for a sufficient length of time to derive from them the information and training which they will afford. To illustrate.—nature study.

number, language, writing and spelling may advantageously be taught in one lesson during the first years of school; later those subjects should be presented separately, or better, lessons should be given in which special stress is laid on one of these subjects; in the High School language should be divided into composition, technical grammar, literature, and one or more foreign languages, and nature study should be developed into the sciences of botany, zoology, physics and chemistry.

I will not continue this subject further than to raise the question whether in all instances our present course meets these demands of the child's nature.

SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

We have eight school buildings. Of these the Rocky Nook and Centre Intermediate are new and well equipped with modern heating and sanitary appliances. The Stony Brook house is a fairly good building, but not provided with heating and sanitary arrangements such as a village school should have. The buildings at Wapping, Silver Lake and North-west are as good and as well fitted with out-buildings and heating facilities as could be expected of country schools. The rear room of the Centre Primary building is too small for conducting the work with the present first class comfortably and profitably. The building is not provided with suitable heating apparatus and sanitary conveniences. The High School building is not large enough to accommodate the number of pupils now attending and is not provided with proper sanitary arrangements.

TEACHING FORCE.

Of the teaching force as a whole I am glad to say that in my opinion it is good, perhaps better than we could expect in a town of this size. The work of some teachers is especially good and deserves the commendation of the Committee. The practice followed by the Committee in recent years of securing teachers trained especially for their work should certainly be continued. The advantages, almost necessity, of such teachers, or teachers of considerable experience cannot be too strongly emphasized.

There have been two changes of teachers during the year. Mr. Kempton, a graduate of Brown University, and teacher of sciences in Weymouth High School, was elected principal of the High School near the close of the last school year and before my term of service began. Miss Goward, the assistant in the Centre Primary, resigned at the close of the fall term to accept a better position elsewhere. Miss Mary A. Curran of Plymouth, a graduate of Bridgewater Normal School, takes her place.

Frequent changes of teachers is unquestionably detrimental to a school system. A teacher after a year's work in a given school is not only more valuable in herself but is in position to give much better service than she could give when she began her duties. I therefore recommend the adoption of a salary schedule as suggested by a member of the Committee at a recent meeting.

ACCOMMODATIONS.

As almost everywhere our accommodations are not sufficient to supply the demands made on our schools. The result is overcrowding and makeshifts to relieve it. At the beginning of the school year the pupils in the seventh and eighth grades from the central part of the town and from Rocky Nook were found to be more than fifty. As the Grammar School could not take care of that number and it would not be advisable to have so many pupils under one teacher anyhow, the seventh grade pupils from Rocky Nook were placed in the Intermediate School located there. Thus the teacher of that school has four grades and forty pupils. It is unnecessary to say that this condition of things does great injustice to the attendants of that school and ought not to be continued. The Primary School in the same building is in nearly as bad a condition. One teacher has forty pupils in three grades including an entering class of twenty. I recommend renovating the old schoolhouse next the hose house, putting up new out-buildings and opening a Grammar School there in September next. This arrangement will prevent crowding in the Centre Grammar for some years at least and will give three schools of thirty to forty scholars each to the Rocky Nook section.

The Centre Intermediate registered for December forty-eight pupils. The indications are that next year it will have an increase of five to ten. If such proves to be the fact, some remedy will have to be applied here. The crowded state of the High School will be discussed under a separate topic.

GRADING.

While lack of sufficient accommodations presents the most serious and pressing problem, I believe there is opportunity for improvement in other respects. Wapping, Silver Lake and Northwest are in reality ungraded schools, i. e., schools with all grades below the High School. Because of their location, each at a considerable distance from any other school, perhaps not much can be done to help them except by assisting the teachers in better organizing their work; but I recommend allowing those pupils who are qualified to do so to attend the Centre Grammar and giving them five cents each for every day of attendance to pay for their transportation. The cost would not be large and the benefit to the children, both to those who remain in these schools and to those who attend the Grammar, would be considerable.

In the Stony Brook School are grades one, two, three and five; in the Centre Primary, grades one, two and three; in the Centre Intermediate, grades four, five and six. I believe that some plan can and ought to be devised for redistricting the children in these schools so that no teacher shall have more than two grades. That seems to me the ideal number in a town of this size.

INSUFFICIENT SUPPLY OF BOOKS.

The schools have greatly suffered for want of the necessary books. The lack is most marked. In the larger schools the fourth grade have had only readers, and only one or two series of these. In general the supply of books and material was inadequate for good work in the schools and rapid advancement of the pupils. This deficiency has been partially supplied by buying at the beginning of the financial year of 1902. However, many books are still needed. It seems to me that the annual appropriation for books and supplies is insufficient. The amount expended annually for the last two years has averaged more than five hundred dollars, while the average membership of the schools has been less than three hundred. Our present membership is very nearly four hundred. So long ago as February, 1886, when the average membership was two hundred and forty, the School Committee said, "And they (the Committee) are of the opinion that not less than $500 will be needed, annually, for the purchase of text books and school supplies." The character of the instruction and work in the schools has materially changed during the last sixteen years, demanding additional and improved facilities. Seven hundred dollars could certainly be profitably expended for books and supplies during the present year.

HIGH SCHOOL.

I am glad to note that our High School is in a particularly flourishing condition. It is certainly popular. I believe the character of the work done in it is such that it deserves to be popular. That it may continue to deserve this popularity some defects need to be removed. The large room, the only one intended for a study room, will conveniently accommodate fifty pupils, scarcely more. Presumably the heating and ventilating apparatus was designed for that number. The school has now a membership of eighty-one. They are provided for by putting about fifteen more desks than it should have in the study room and by using the recitation room for a study room also. Under these circumstances the best results cannot be obtained. It would be a waste of money and effort to continue the present conditions. To expend more and furnish reasonable conveniences for conducting the work of the school will bring a proportionately larger return. The following statement from the report of the principal gives his estimate, after careful investigation, of the number of pupils that may be expected next year: "At present eighty-one pupils are attending the High School and with a considerable degree of discomfort perhaps two more seats could be wedged in. But after computing the number of pupils who can reasonably be expected to attend the school next year, and after allowing for twice as many pupils to drop out as have done so in any recent year, we still are confronted with the probability that there will be ninety-five scholars to provide for the coming year."

That so large a proportion of the expense for books and supplies during the past year was incurred for the High School is due to the increase in the number of pupils, to the many worn out and antiquated books found in use and to the lack of chemicals and chemical apparatus.
